Fish Descriptions:

Channel Catfish: They are excellent for food and sport fishing. They are compatible with all pond species and can grow 1 lb. per year if fed with commercial feed.

Fathead Minnows: These are especially important when stocking new ponds. They are also good for ponds prior to stocking largemouth bass. Young bass use them for food.

Hybrid Bluegill: They come from crossing a male bluegill with a female Green Sunfish. They produce 90% males so they do not over populate a pond. They are a good choice for small ponds and will grow ¼ to ½ lb. per year. They can reproduce with bluegills if they are present in the pond.

Largemouth Bass: One of the most sought after game fish. The average size is 20 inches and they may live up to 23 years.

Red Ear Sunfish: Excellent in deeper ponds and with Bluegill and Hybrid Sunfish.

Straight Bluegill: An excellent sport fish that grows a little slower than sunfish.

Triploid Grass Carp: They eat many weeds, but not algae, and do not reproduce.
